The New York Life IndexFlex Variable Annuity–FP Series

A single premium, deferred variable annuity with 13 Investment Divisions offering market exposure, a Fixed Account, and an Index-linked Account.

Product description The New York Life IndexFlex Variable Annuity–FP Series (IndexFlex) is designed to help investors who are seeking to accumulate money for retirement. IndexFlex offers variable investment options in different asset classes and styles. Money invested in the Index-linked Account has the potential to earn an Index-linked Credit (interest) based on the performance of a well-known stock market index. In years when performance for the selected index is positive, the Index-linked Account will be credited with interest based on a crediting method you choose. In years of negative index performance, the Index-linked Account will not earn any interest, but the Index-linked Account Accumulation Value will never decrease.

The amount of interest an investor can earn in the Index-linked Account depends on the Interest Crediting Method. There are two crediting method options, both of which have rates that are guaranteed to remain in effect for the policy term selected: 5, 6, or 7 years. These guarantees apply only to amounts invested in the Index-linked Account at time of policy application.

A fixed account is also available (where approved). All guarantees, including those in the Fixed Account and the Index-linked Account, are backed by the claims-paying ability of New York Life Insurance and Annuity Corporation (NYLIAC).

Investments and insurance products are:
Not FDIC/NCUA Insured • Not Insured by Any Federal Government Agency • Not a Deposit or
Other Obligation of, or Guaranteed by, the Bank or Any of Its Affiliates • May Lose Value

Investment options Index-linked Account option

Please see the IndexFlex Investing Guide for more information on the investment options available.

Money placed in the Index-linked Account can receive an annual Index-linked Credit based on the investor's crediting strategy, a combination of a market index and Interest Crediting Method. For amounts invested at time of purchase, Index-linked crediting rates are set at purchase and guaranteed to remain in effect for the chosen surrender period, or the Initial Term of five, six, or seven years; then subject to annual renewal, with Recurring Term interest crediting rates set at beginning of each one-year term.

- Russell 2000 Price Return<sup>®2</sup>

Interest Crediting Methods

- The Cap Rate crediting method provides principal protection with upside potential. When performance during the annual measuring period for the selected index is positive, the account is credited at the performance rate, up to the cap. If index performance is negative, the account receives no interest, but will never lose money.
- The Flat Rate crediting method also allows for principal protection, while maintaining the opportunity for a predetermined credit, if performance during the annual measuring period for the selected index is positive (zero or higher), the account is credited at the guaranteed flat rate. If index performance is negative, the account receives no interest, but will never lose money.

Because Cap Rates are slightly higher than corresponding Flat Rates, Cap Rate strategies generally offer higher upside potential, while Flat Rate strategies have the potential to outperform the Cap Rate strategies when the annual index return is positive, but lower than the Flat Rate.

Variable and Fixed Account investment options

We offer a variety of investment options in different asset classes and styles. To make investing and managing your money simpler, we also offer a selection of asset allocation funds and model portfolios designed by an unaffiliated third-party investment advisor, Franklin Advisers, Inc., a wholly-owned subsidiary of Franklin Resources, Inc.

A fixed account, which can offer a guaranteed interest rate for a portion of your investment, is also available (where approved). All guarantees, including the guaranteed interest rate, are based on the claims-paying ability of New York Life Insurance and Annuity Corporation (NYLIAC).

Account transfers***

*There is no charge for transfers currently, but NYLIAC reserves the right to charge for transfers in the event that they exceed 12 per policy year.

After your initial allocation of premium to the variable investment options, the Index-linked Account, and/or the Fixed Account at purchase, IndexFlex provides the freedom to make transfers in and out of investment options. The money allocated to the variable investment options is subject to market risk, including the potential for loss of principal. A Mortality & Expense (M&E) charge is deducted from amounts invested in the variable investment divisions.

Transfers from the Index-linked Account to the variable and Fixed Account investment options can only occur at the end of each 1-year term of the Index-linked Account. We reserve the right to limit the amount of total transfers out of the Index-linked Account during any policy year to 20% of the anniversary value.

Account transfers* Transfers to the Index-linked Account from the variable and Fixed Account investment options may occur up to 2 times per year. Each transfer begins a new 1-year Recurring Term at the cap rate or flat rate applicable to the policy at that time. Transfers are not permitted into the Initial Term option.

 *There is no charge for transfers currently, but NYLIAC reserves the right to charge for transfers in the event that they exceed 12 per policy year.

Transfers within the Index-linked Account: At the end of each 1-year term of the Index-linked Account, investors may choose to change the index strategy by transferring the account value (after any index credit) within the Index-linked Account. Transfers from an Initial Term or Recurring Term option can be made to a new Recurring Term option with a different crediting method or index, but transfers cannot be made into the Initial Term option. Recurring Term rates will always be lower than Initial Term rates during the surrender charge period.

3. Please note that M&E charges apply to the variable investment options, only, and do not apply to fixed and index-linked accounts, which are held in the general account. For general account options, expenses are among the factors accounted for when crediting rates are set, and are not charged as a separate fee.

4. Tax-qualified plans already provide tax deferral under the Internal Revenue Code, so the tax deferral of an annuity does not provide any additional tax advantages. As they offer both insurance and investment features, variable annuities are subject to additional fees to which other tax-qualified funding vehicles may not be subject.

Variable annuities are long-term financial products used for retirement savings. There are fees, expenses, limitations and risks associated with this policy. All guarantees, relating to the variable account value, including death benefit payments, are dependent on the claims-paying ability of NYLIAC and do not apply to the investment performance or safety of the underlying Investment Divisions, as they are subject to market risks and will fluctuate in value.
