Important Information- Please Read Carefully:

- Beginning in 2018, recharacterization is no longer allowed in the case of a conversion of a non-Roth account or annuity to a Roth IRA. Therefore, once you convert your non-Roth account or annuity it cannot be undone.
- Beginning in 2010, income limits on Roth IRA conversions are eliminated, so anyone can convert all or a portion of retirement assets in an Eligible Retirement Plan to a Roth IRA. However, income limits for Roth IRA Contributions remain in effect.

Annuities are issued by New York Life Insurance and Annuity Corporation ("NYLIAC"), a Delaware Corporation.

NYLIAC is a wholly owned subsidiary of New York Life Insurance Company.

Variable Annuities offered through properly licensed registered representatives of a third party registered broker dealer.

- The conversion will be treated as a taxable distribution from your existing Eligible Retirement Plan and as a qualified rollover contribution into the Roth IRA. Except as described above, the total amount converted from your existing Eligible Retirement Plan must be included in your gross income in the year of conversion, except that any after-tax contributions are excluded. Please consult with your tax advisor for any questions relating to the taxation of a Roth IRA conversion and your particular tax situation.
- The conversion of your existing Eligible Retirement Plan will not be subject to the IRS 10% penalty tax on early distributions, regardless of your age.
- You may be subject to the 10% penalty tax if any converted amounts are distributed from the Roth IRA within five (5) years after the conversion; unless you are age 59 ½ or older or another exception applies. Distributions from Roth IRAs generally are tax-free to the extent all your regular contributions and your conversion contributions are withdrawn. When you've withdrawn all your contributions (regular and conversion), any subsequent withdrawals come from earnings. Earnings generally are tax-free if they are received after you have reached age 59½ and at least five tax years have expired since the first contribution was made to a Roth IRA on your behalf. Otherwise (with limited exceptions) the earnings are taxable and potentially subject to the IRS 10% early withdrawal penalty tax.
- If federal and/or state income taxes are withheld from the retirement assets that are being converted, the tax amount withheld may be subject to income taxes and the 10% IRS penalty tax may apply. You may wish to consult with your tax advisor regarding your income tax withholding election. Note: If federal and/or state income taxes are withheld, the amount that will be contributed to your Roth IRA will be reduced by the amount withheld. Please complete the Federal and State Income Tax Withholding section of this form.

If you are requesting a full or partial conversion of an existing NYLIAC non-Roth IRA annuity policy to a NEW NYLIAC Roth IRA Annuity Policy please consider the following:

Conversion of an existing Deferred Variable Annuity to a new Deferred Variable Annuity or Deferred Fixed Annuity

- The Guaranteed Minimum Interest Rate (GMIR) for the Fixed Account may be lower in the new policy.
- For conversions to Deferred Variable Annuities, variable annuity policies purchased before June 2, 2003 will not keep the Initial Class Investment Divisions, but replace them with Service Class Investment Divisions that in most cases charge a 12b-1 fee. May be more expensive than the current class of Investment Division that you own.
- For conversions to Deferred Variable Annuities if you have a product with an optional rider, such as the ADBR, IPP (AVPP in Oregon), IPR, or EBB and the benefits under these riders are above the current contract value, you may lose all or a portion of this added benefit if you do a partial conversion to a new product. Please see your product prospectus to see how withdrawals may impact these riders. The amount of the loss of your benefit may be greater than the actual dollar amount that you are converting because the reduction in the benefit will be made in the same percentage as your account value in the original contract is reduced.
- Please be aware that the new policy may have a new surrender charge schedule.
- For conversions to Deferred Variable Annuities the M&E charge may be different and optional rider charges may be higher.
- For conversions to Deferred Variable Annuities, if your original annuity has an M&E charge based upon your premiums paid into the original annuity, then amounts representing gains in the old contract that are transferred to the new contract will now be subject to an M&E charge when they previously were not.
- The existing product may no longer be available for sale.

Annuities are issued by New York Life Insurance and Annuity Corporation ("NYLIAC"), a Delaware Corporation.
 NYLIAC is a wholly owned subsidiary of New York Life Insurance Company.
 Variable Annuities offered through properly licensed registered representatives of a third party registered broker dealer.

Conversion of an existing Deferred Fixed Annuity to a new Deferred Fixed Annuity or Deferred Variable Annuity

- The Guaranteed Minimum Interest Rate (GMIR) may be lower on the new policy.
- Since higher interest rates may be credited to higher premium amounts, the initial interest rate credited may be lower on the new policy.
- Since renewal interest rates are based on accumulation value, both the new and existing policy may be credited with a lower renewal interest rate.
- The surrender charge free window may be lower on the new policy.
- The Premium Guarantee feature, if available on the existing policy, may be negated on a partial conversion.
- For conversions to Deferred Variable annuities, Variable annuities have features and benefits such as availability to investment divisions as well as death benefits, and guaranteed account balance benefits that are not available under Deferred Fixed Annuities. These features and benefits have charges associated with them such as 12b-1 fees on the underlying portfolios of the investment divisions, M&E charges and charges for benefits. Please see the product prospectus to obtain more information.
- Please be aware that the new policy may have a new surrender charge schedule.
- The existing product may no longer be available for sale.

Conversion of an existing Deferred Fixed or Variable Annuity to an Income Annuity

- Client understands that an Income Annuity provides no liquidity or rate of return but is a promise that the Company makes to pay periodic payments for the period that the client elects beginning on the date the client elects.

For Guaranteed Lifetime Income Annuity II, Guaranteed Future Income Annuity II and Guaranteed Period Income Annuity II only:

The Internal Revenue Code provides that a Roth IRA is not subject to the required minimum distribution ("RMD") rules during the life of the Roth IRA owner, but is subject to the RMD rules after the owner/annuitant's death. Accordingly, a NYLIAC Guaranteed Lifetime Income Annuity II, Guaranteed Future Income Annuity II or Guaranteed Period Income Annuity II, issued as a Roth IRA, provides that any amounts payable to a beneficiary after the owner/annuitant's death must be made in accordance with the RMD rules, notwithstanding any inconsistent provision in the contract. This may affect the amount otherwise payable to a beneficiary.

If, at the time of the owner/annuitant's death, the remaining guaranteed period under a Life with Period Certain (Period Certain for a Guaranteed Period Income Annuity II) is longer than the beneficiary's life expectancy (determined under the IRS Single Life Table), NYLIAC will commute all of the future guaranteed payments. This commuted value will be calculated as specified in the policy.

Beneficiary Name _____ Date of Birth _____ (Used for RMD testing)
